Pastor's Note

When I was first ordained a priest and sent to Kingston, Jamaica, I remember once being visited by Ms. Nora. As soon as I saw her, it was clear that some thing was wrong. Ms. Nora looked sad, even despondent. We sat down and she then told me a story of an incident in her neighbourhood. There was a local man who had lived for many years in America. He had worked hard and earned a good pension. When he retired, he returned to Jamaica. Trying to be of help to others, he would use his resources to support different ideas and projects proposed by those in the community, especially the youth. Perhaps it was to assist in accumulating supplies for a person to sell on the street. Or, maybe to give tuition to someone studying at college or university. He wanted to help those who aspired to change their lives and the lives of those around them. One evening, however, some local “gunmen” went to his house and demanded their share of money. He refused, saying that he wanted to build up the community, not see it further destroyed. In the end, the “gunmen” killed him. To Ms. Nora and others, it seemed as if another light had been extinguished, that darkness was covering them and there was no way out. It felt like God was silent, disinterested in West Kingston.

Jamaicans know their Bible. So, I asked Ms. Nora what was written at the beginning of the Gospel of John. She looked at me and said, “a light that shines in the dark, a light that darkness could not overcome.” Like Ms. Nora, it may seem to us that “darkness” is overcoming the light, that it is winning. It sounds very similar to what we hear in this week’s First Reading from the Minor Prophet Habakkuk.

Habakkuk painfully pleads with God: “O Lord, how long shall I cry for help, and you will not listen? . . . Why do you make me see wrongdoing and look at trouble? Destruction and violence are before me; strife and contention arise.” The Lord responds by assuring that “there is still a vision for the appointed time; it speaks of the end, and does not lie. If it seems to tarry, wait for it; it will surely come, it will not delay. . . . [T]he righteous person lives by their faith.” When we look at our world or simply watch the news, we may feel that “darkness” is overcoming goodness, compassion, mercy, love and justice. But this is not the case. The Lord and his will for Creation cannot be overcome. In truth, the Risen Lord has already won the victory. God’s kingdom will fully arise at the “appointed time,” “it will surely come.” Our task as his followers, his disciples, is to seek to be faithful to him. To labour with him in the building of the Father’s kingdom – “Thy kingdom come on earth as it is in heaven.”

O that today you would listen to his voice!
Do not harden your hearts, as at Meribah,
as on the day at Massah in the wilderness,
when your ancestors tested me,
and put me to the proof,
though they had seen my work.

God bless and take care,
Fr. John

St. Martin's Cloak

Upon seeing a poor man in rags begging, St. Martin of Tours cut his soldier's cloak in two sharing it with the beggar. The next night St. Martin in a dream saw Jesus wearing the gifted cloak.

Unfortunately, too many of those in need around us are in need proper winter coats. In the spirit of St. Martin of Tours, we will be collecting winter coats at weekend Masses from this weekend to October 25/26th and distributing them to those in need. All new and gently used coats of all sizes, from baby to adult are welcome. There will be a box for coats stationed in the foyer.
